CUT AND DRY

A second-generation family business, McLaughlin Taylor Dry-lining is one of the country's leading dry-lining contractors with experience across Ireland and the UK.

This award-winning company is capable of undertaking projects of any size in both the residential and commercial sectors. With expertise in metal partitions, MF ceilings, acoustic insulation as well as bespoke solutions, McLaughlin Taylor Dry-lining work hand in hand with the 'who's who' of main contractors.

McLaughlin Taylor Dry-lining has established itself as one of Ireland's leading dry-lining contractors, capable of undertaking projects of varied sizes in the residential, commercial and industrial sectors. The company's flexibility is matched by its professionalism, which has seen them set the standards in dry-lining contracting down through the years. In 2010, for example, they scooped two prestigious Saint-Gobain Awards for their breath-taking work at the Titanic Signature Building, Belfast as well as taking the 2018 non-residential award for the Titanic Hotel project.

The company's skilled workforce is trustworthy and passionate about undertaking high quality work using modern techniques. They partner with customers and contractors who share the same vision of quality and professionalism and they actively assist on projects from the design stage through to project completion.

"Keeping the project to programme is the most important factor of all," states founder and Managing Director Martin McLaughlin. "Quality is also paramount, in terms of both workmanship and the materials used. So, the key is to keep the quality levels high while at the same time carrying out the work as quickly as possible. You have to deliver on both fronts – complete the work quickly and also to the highest standards possible."

Equally adept at working on new builds and fit-out/refurbishments, McLaughlin Taylor consistently achieves optimal solutions by only using the best industry-leading materials sourced from renowned names such as Saint-Gobain, Kingspan, Gyproc, Armstrong Ceiling and Wall Solutions, AMF, SAS International, Rockfon, Siniat, etc.

Although McLaughlin Taylor boasts experience delivering projects throughout the UK, most of the work at present is restricted to the island of Ireland. The company is currently engaged on a variety of projects nationwide, including One Microsoft Court and Autodesk for Mac Interiors, Northwood Nursing Home for Elliot Construction as well as the Tallaght Cross West Apartments for Ardmac Construction, having previously delivered a series of bank refurbishments for both Bank of Ireland and AIB.

This family-run business maintains a skilled workforce who are passionate about undertaking high quality work using modern techniques. The company partners with customers and contractors who share the same vision of quality and professional workmanship. They are specialists in metal stud partitions, plaster boarding, MF ceilings, suspended grid ceiling, acoustic & thermal insulation as well as in load bearing Structural Framing Systems (SFS).

"The key to our success is the professional relationship we develop with our clients," explains Managing Director Martin McLaughlin. "We can assist on projects from the design stage to project completion. In so doing, we guarantee an on-time, quality finish while adhering to industry's quality, environmental and safety standards," he says.

In recognition of a consistently high level of services together with high level workmanship McLaughlin Taylor Dry-lining has been awarded the 2019 Public Sector Magazine Excellence in Business Construction Award.
